Farid	: Hello, James and Selva. Are you both taking part in the annual school camp this weekend?
James	: Yes, we both are.
Farid	: I can't wait for Friday to come. This is my first camp as a scout.
Selva	: Do you know which other units are involved, James?
James	: Well, other than us, there'll also be the Red Crescent Society and the Girl Guides.
Selva	: I heard that there'll be a cultural night on Saturday night. It'll be fun.
James	: Yes, that's true. The camp starts with an icebreaker session on Friday night and we'll go trekking in the jungle the next morning.
Selva	: There'll be a marching competition at the field on Sunday. We can go home after that.
Farid	: Selva, can you tell us again what to bring?
Selva	: Just follow the list given. Don't forget your torch and log book. We also need a compass when we go for jungle trekking.
James	: Remember, we mustn't bring any expensive things to the camp.
Selva	: I agree. I lost my mobile phone during an activity last year.
Farid	: Okay, I'll keep that in mind. See you both on Friday!

To	nirmal@email.com
Subject	Invitation to a book fair

Dear Nirmal,

Our favourite book fair is happening again this year! I'm glad that it's held at Seri Melur Auditorium. The auditorium is bigger and closer to our school. Last year, it was held at the city hall. Just like before, the fair begins at 9.00 a.m. and runs for eight hours daily.

The poster shows that this time around, the fair will have books for all age groups ranging from preschoolers to adults. Story books, magazines, comics, recipe books as well as reference books will be on sale. A 20% discount will be given to those who spend more than RM50 in a single receipt. Not only that, all customers will be given vouchers to be used at the cafeteria.

The fair starts this Saturday until Wednesday. Maybe we can go together? I can ask my father to send us there after our English Club meeting. It'll be nice to go there on the day the fair starts. I've a piano lesson on Sunday. Let me know what you think.
