Police hoping for high-tech drones to curb smuggling activities

KOTA BARU: Smugglers along the borders are using sophisticated drones to avoid being caught, prompting police to take stock of what they have now and calling on the government to equip them with similar or better technology to fight back.

State police chief Datuk Shafien Mamat said the force would need better drones to stop smuggling activities along the Kelantan-Thailand border, especially at isolated and difficult-to-reach areas.

"Smugglers along the border lately have been using drones that can fly higher than the level the normal drones can reach. We only have one drone which is a simple model. It can only fly up to 500 metres high. The drone is currently being used by our criminal investigation division in their operations" he said.

- 2 The above extract gives an idea that the smugglers...
- are using drones to help smuggle their goods.
 - manage to divert the police's attention by isolating themselves.
 - are equipped with sophisticated drones to evade being tracked down.

Hi Zul, have you read the notice about the annual story writing competition?

Yes, of course. This is our last chance before completing high school! Let's make it a wonderful memory for us. I want to make my English teacher proud too!

That's great! I mean the scholarship is very enticing. I have always dreamt of furthering my studies abroad. I hope this is for real and not merely building castles in the air! To achieve it, I will go all out! You too, okay?

Yes Niran, let's participate this year. We missed it last year! I wish to win one of the top three prizes and make my parents proud. Do join okay?

Ants are social insects that are unable to live on their own and need to live in an 9 colony. They are mostly found in places with hot climate. There are over 12,000 known 10 of ants in the world. An ant has an average life span of 45 to 60 days. Ants do not have ears 11 they hear by feeling the vibrations in the ground through their feet. An ant uses its antenna for touch as well as smell.

Ants are 12 omnivorous. They eat other insects, seeds, oils and bread. Adult ants are unable to swallow solid food thus they 13 on the juice they squeeze out from pieces of food. An ant has two stomachs where in one stomach, it stores food for itself while in the other, it stores food which is to be shared with others. Another amazing feature is ants are creatures that depend on 14 other.

There are three different kinds of ants in a colony: the queen, the female workers and the males. The queen is the only ant that can lay eggs. Once she has 15 her first brood, she becomes an egg-laying machine for the rest of her life. A male ant's job is to mate with the queen. After mating, it dies, 16 two weeks. The female ants 17 and repair the nest, care for the brood, defend the nest and feed both immature and adult ants, including the queen. There may be workers and soldiers of different sizes that specialise in certain tasks. Like all pests, ants need food, water and shelter to 18. By limiting these three essentials, you make it more difficult for ants to live in the infested area.

Chocolate — there's nothing quite like it, is there? Chocolate is simply delicious. What is chocolate? Where does it come from?

Christopher Columbus was probably the first to take cacao beans from the New World to Europe in around 1502. However, the history of chocolate goes back at least 4,000 years! The Aztecs, who lived in America, thought that their bitter cacao drink was a divine gift from heaven. In fact, the scientist Carolus Linnaeus named the plant Theobroma, which means "food of the gods."

The Spanish explorer Hernando Cortez went to America in 1519. He visited the Mexican emperor Montezuma. He saw that Montezuma drank cacao mixed with vanilla and spices. Cortez took some cacao home as a gift to the Spanish King Charles. In Spain, people began to drink Cortez's chocolate in a drink with chili peppers. However, the natural taste of cacao was too bitter for most people. To sweeten the drink, Europeans added sugar to the cacao drink. As a sweet drink, it became more popular. By the 17th century, rich people in Europe were drinking it.

Later, people started using chocolate in pastries, like pies and cakes. In 1828, Dutch chocolate makers started using a new process for removing the fat from cacao beans, and getting to the centre of the cacao bean. The Dutch chocolate maker Coenraad J. van Houten made a machine that pressed the fat from the bean. The resulting powder mixed better with water than cacao did. Now, some call van Houten's chocolate "Dutch chocolate."

It was easy to mix Dutch chocolate powder with sugar. Therefore, other chocolate makers started trying new recipes that used powdered chocolate. People started mixing sweetened chocolate with cocoa butter to make solid chocolate bars. In 1849, an English chocolate maker made the first chocolate bar. In the 19th century, the Swiss started making milk chocolate by mixing powdered milk with sweetened chocolate. Milk chocolate has not changed much since this process was invented.

Today, two countries - Brazil and Ivory Coast - account for almost half the world's chocolate. The United States imports most of the chocolate in the world, but the Swiss eat the most chocolate per person. The most chocolate eaten today is sweet milk chocolate, but people also eat white chocolate and dark chocolate.

Cocoa and dark chocolate are believed to help prevent heart attacks, or help keep them from happening. They are supposed to be good for the circulatory system. On the other hand, the high fat content of chocolate can cause weight gain, which is not good for people's health. Other undesirable health claims for consuming chocolate have not been proven, but some research shows that chocolate could be good for the brain.

Chocolate is a popular holiday gift. A popular Valentine's Day gift is a box of chocolate candies with a card and flowers. Chocolate is sometimes given for Christmas and birthdays. Chocolate eggs are sometimes given at Easter.

Chocolate is toxic to some animals. An ingredient in chocolate is poisonous to dogs, cats, parrots, small rodents, and some livestock. Their bodies cannot process some of the chemicals found in chocolate. Therefore, they should never be fed chocolate.

19 From paragraph 2, how did people first consume chocolate?

- A As a bitter drink.
- B As a sweet drink.
- C As a chocolate bar.
- D In cakes and pastries.

20 From paragraph 2, a divine gift is a...

- A chocolate gift.
- B gift from God.
- C delicious gift.
- D bitter gift.

21 From paragraph 3, people added other ingredients to make the chocolate drink less bitter. Which ingredient was not used?

- A Sugar.
- B Chili powder.
- C Chili peppers.
- D Vanilla and spices.

22 From paragraph 5, what was used by chocolate makers to produce new recipes?

- A Chocolate making machine.
- B Sweetened chocolate.
- C Powdered chocolate.
- D Powdered milk.

23 What are recipes?

- A Cooking condiments.
- B Cooking instructions.
- C Food ingredients.
- D Herbs and spices.

24 Which of these statements is true?

- A Most people love to eat dark chocolate.
- B Brazil imports most of the chocolate in the world.
- C The United States imports most chocolate from Ivory Coast.
- D The Swiss consume the most chocolate per person in the world.

25 From paragraph 9, why some animals cannot eat chocolate?

- A They prefer solid food.
- B They do not like to eat chocolate.
- C They can only eat meat and plants.
- D Their stomach cannot digest the chocolate.

26 The purpose of this passage is to...

- A show that chocolate is toxic.
- B discuss how chocolate is made.
- C share the benefits of eating chocolate.
- D reveal the chronicle and significance of chocolate.

Questions 27 to 32

You are going to read a story below.

Six sentences have been removed from the story. Choose from the sentences (A to H) to fit each gap (27 to 32). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use.

For each question, mark the correct answer (A to H) on your answer sheet.

NEVER GIVE UP

If you could come to my office in Subang Jaya, you would notice across one side of the room beautiful old-fashioned Victorian tiles and six antique Chinese wooden stools. Unusual? Yes, but if those stools could speak, they would tell you a story about the day I almost lost hope and gave up.

It was a recession period during the pandemic and jobs were scarce. I felt that I had no special talent, no training, no college education. I didn't think much of myself. 27 . She encouraged me to take journalism and named me advertising manager and feature editor of the school paper. Suddenly an idea came, what if I write a shoppers' column for a small weekly newspaper in our town, maybe I could earn enough to pay my rent.

Unfortunately, at the newspaper office, there were no jobs available. So, I caught another idea. 28 . I did that for my school paper, why can't I do the same for my own column. The idea worked.

Then, one dark rainy afternoon, every local shop I had worked with stopped putting their advertisements in my column. "Why?" I asked. They said they had noticed that Ashwin Ong, the owner of the Robyn Pharmacy did not advertise with me. His store was the most popular in town.

29 . "There must be something wrong with your advertising," they explained.

My heart sank. Then I thought, I will go to the pharmacy. I knew that if he advertised with me, the other merchants in town would follow his lead.

As I walked into the pharmacy, he was there at the prescription counter. 30 . Without even looking at my column, he shook his head and said "NO".

I was devastated. I walked towards the antique Chinese stool to sit. 31 . Then, a soft voice beside me said, "What's the matter, dear?" I poured out my story. Then she took a look at my "Shoppers' Column". It turned out, that lady was Mrs. Robyn Ong. She told Mr. Ong to buy the advertising space from me. 32 . My column prospered. Many local companies advertised through my column.

Later when Mr. Ong modernized the old pharmacy and put the stools for sale, I quickly bought them. This is to remind me that if you can't communicate with a key person, then try another path around and never give up.

- A They respected his judgement.
- B Someone in the past reminded me that I was a nobody.
- C My eyes filled with tears.
- D Then I remembered my English teacher who inspired me.
- E She was a gentle and beautiful woman.
- F What if I write my own online shoppers' column and get my own advertisers.
- G I smiled my best smile and tried to show him my special "Shoppers' Column".
- H That conversation on the stool was the turning point.
