Virtual runs (VRs) is the current trend in which participants clock their individual progress in a marathon run. They clock their progress using GPS trackers and submit their results to race organisers. VRs are becoming increasingly popular in the running world as substitutes for organized in-person runs as it gives runners the opportunity to participate in events and set goals without having to congregate in large numbers.

Penang Bridge International Marathon (PBIM) was converted to a VR in September. The Kuala Lumpur Standard Chartered Marathon will take place from Dec 5 to Dec 13.

- 5 Changing the character of marathon from in- person runs to virtual runs reflects the
- A Enthusiasm of runners and organisers cannot be dampened
 - B Acceptance of unforeseen circumstances
 - C Importance of staying on one's feet against all odds

Questions 9 to 18

Read the text below and choose the best word for each space. For each question, mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

Video Games are Good for You

For years video games (0) have been criticised for making people more antisocial, overweight or depressed. But now researchers are finding that games can actually (19) _____ us for the better and improve both our body and mind.

Games can help to develop physical skills. Pre-school children who played interactive games such as the ones available on-line have been (20) _____ to have improved motor skills, for example they can kick, catch and throw a ball (21) _____ than children who don't play video games. Vision is also improved, particularly telling the difference between shades of grey. This is useful for driving at night, piloting a plane or reading X-rays.

Games also (22) _____ a variety of brain functions, including decision-making. People who play action-based games make decisions 25 per cent faster than others and are no less accurate, according to one study. It was also found that the best gamers can make choices and (23) _____ them up to six times a second, four times faster than most people. In another study (24) _____ researchers from the University of Rochester in New York, (25) _____ gamers were shown to be able to pay attention to more than six things at once without getting confused, compared with the four that most people can normally keep in mind.

The effects are not always so positive, however. Indiana University researchers (26) _____ brain scans on young men and found evidence that violent games can alter brain function after as little as a week of play, affecting regions in the brain associated with emotional control and causing more aggressive behaviour (27) _____ the player. But Daphne Bavelier, one of the most experienced researchers in the field, says that the violent action games that often worry parents most may actually have the strongest beneficial effect on the brain. In the future, we may see many (28) _____ for physical and neurological problems which incorporate the playing of video games.

Part 3

You are going to read an extract from an article. For questions 19 to 26, choose the correct answer (A, B, C or D) and mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

Asian Carp

The United States has a lengthy history of going to war. It is a nation born from war. Pick any year since 1776, and the odds of America being involved in at least one war is over 90%. Every US President has faced war. Still, it may surprise you to hear that the US government is at war with a fish.

Asian carp were introduced to American waters during the 1970s. Southern fish farmers began importing them to help clean their ponds. Asian carp are phenomenal cleaners. Unfortunately, it didn't take too long for them to escape from these ponds, perhaps from flooding, and get into the Mississippi River. From there they have followed their natural tendency to swim upstream. This tendency may lead them into the Great Lakes and Canada, a nightmare scenario for fisherman.

Asian carp are large fish. One species, the silver carp, can grow to be 100 pounds. But despite their size, they feed from the bottom of the food chain. That means that they eat plankton and algae. A one hundred pound fish can eat an awful lot of sea scum, and some of it is toxic. The carp are resistant to the toxins, but we aren't. Some Asian carp are hazardous to eat because they have so many algal toxins in their systems. They also have lots of tiny bones in their meat, which makes them difficult to prepare. Asian carp is not a popular delicacy.

Introducing the Asian carp into waters that have not known them can be devastating. Beneath the surface of the water is a unique ecosystem. This system rests delicately on a balance that has evolved over millions of years. Then along come these big, hungry bottom feeders to mess up everything. They breed rapidly and densely populate the waters. Worse still, they compete with the native bottom feeders. The native bottom feeders are smaller. Larger, tastier fish like salmon eat them. The native bottom feeders are an important part of the ecosystem. When the Asian carp outperform them, the whole food chain suffers, all the way up to the people.

Not only do Asian carp mess up the food chain, they mess up people. Seriously. An Asian carp will bust you in head. Remember that silver carp can be 100 pounds.

There is a reason why they are also known as "flying carp." This particular species of Asian carp has a tendency to jump when frightened. They can jump up to ten feet in the air, and the sound of boat motors frightens them. Watch out watersportists! In 2003 a woman jetskier collided with one and broke her nose and a vertebra. She almost drowned. In 2008 a teenager broke his jaw on one while tubing. Many others have been injured by these flying logs. Asian carp pose a serious threat to water skiers and boaters.

In 2007 the U.S. Department of the Interior declared all silver carp to be an injurious species. In 2010, the State of Michigan passed the $30 million CARPACT. In 2012 Congress approved the "Stop Invasive Species" act, legislation written solely to protect the Great Lakes from Asian carp. The government has been on the offensive against these large-bellied invaders.

But Asian carp are difficult to catch. Since they eat from the bottom, they do not go for lures or baits like most large fish. The best way to stop them is to keep them out. The Great Lakes are connected to the Mississippi River through the 28-mile Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal. For Chicagoans, it is the final point of resistance.

A series of multimillion-dollar electrical barriers have been built along the canal. The barriers are effective at keeping adult carp at bay, but some fear that baby carp may pass through. The United States Army Corps of Engineers has been deployed along with EPA. In 2009 they poisoned the entire canal with rotenone, a chemical that kills fish. The $3 million operation netted over 90 tons of dead fish, and a single carp.

Some think that Great Lakes must be cut off from the Mississippi River. The Michigan Attorney General sued to have the canal closed. The Ontario government and some Great Lake states have also taken legal action. But the courts have been persuaded by the value of the canal as a shipping conduit thus far. In the meantime, the barriers continue to hold, but how long can they? The carp have the Great Lakes under siege. Is this a war that we are destined to lose?

Questions 27 to 32

You are going to read a story about a girl and her grandmother. Six sentences have been removed from the article. Choose from the sentences A to H the one which fits each gap (27 to 32). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use.

Write your answers in the space given.

A Beloved Grandmother

Sneha had been taken care of by her paternal grandmother since she was a newborn. Her mother had passed away while giving birth to her. Her grandmother was loving and caring but was also firm when Sneha needed to be disciplined. Sneha rarely saw her father as he often had to go overseas for business.

Soon it was time for Sneha to go to college. 27 She was excited to go to college but at the same time she felt sad to leave her grandmother. She promised she would come and visit her as often as she could.

One day during her semester break, Sneha went back home. 28 Grandma was very glad to see her. She was so busy chatting with Sneha that she forgot about the cake which was in the oven. The cake was burnt. Grandma was very angry with herself. She then confessed this was not the first time that she forgot she was baking something and the food got burnt. 29

During the next visit, Sneha's grandmother looked confused when Sneha greeted her. 30 Sneha felt worried. Her father was home at that time and so she told him her worries about Grandma. Her father too had noticed that she was no longer her usual self. They decided to take her to a doctor.

The doctor pronounced that Sneha's grandmother had Alzheimer's and at the moment there was no cure. Sneha broke down and cried. She never expected this to happen to Grandma. Her father decided to get a caretaker for her. Sneha told him that they did not need a caretaker, 31

Sneha's father agreed to her coming back home but he still wanted her to continue her studies. He said Sneha could go to a college in her hometown. She agreed to his decision. Sneha and her father then got a caretaker for Grandma. 32 Whenever Sneha went to college or was busy studying, Flora would take care of Grandma. However whenever Sneha was free, she herself would take care of her.

Even though Grandma got progressively worse later and did not even know who she was, Sneha still felt glad that she was taking care of her. Her grandmother had done so much for her. Sneha felt it was time she repaid her beloved grandmother for everything.

- A She found her grandmother baking in the kitchen.
- B Instead, she would come back home and take care of Grandma.
- C Sneha helped her grandmother bake a cake.
- D Her hometown was in Johor Bahru while her college was in Kuala Lumpur.
- E The caretaker was a nice lady called Flora.
- F She only recognised Sneha after a long time.
- G The caretaker liked taking care of Sneha's grandmother.
- H Sneha did not think anything of it and assumed it was just normal forgetfulness due to old age.

Subject: What should we watch this weekend?

Dear Norra,

As planned, I found a poster advertising five of the hottest movies that are screening right now. Let' decide on what we should watch.

Firstly, I thought we could watch Magical Touch as I know that you love (37)_____ movies just as much as I do. The movie is set in a world where knights, dragons and sorcerers living in harmony, though little do they know, a new enemy is forming.

Besides, we could also watch The Haunting Fear as it stars your favourite actor Michael Ketton. It is about a family trying to survive a zombie (38)_____.

If you are in the mood for something fun and entertaining, we consider to watch Happy Family. The James family is trying to get through a reunion with their (39) _____.

Lastly, we could perhaps try out the thriller movie, Knives Out , which is about Detective Greg who is trying to hunt down a serial killer that has no patterns to his victims. The only lead the (40)_____ has is a red rose left behind the scenes.

Which of these movies do you think we should watch? I look forward to your reply.

Your friend,
Farisha
