Child: Wow, Mom, that roller coaster was incredible! It felt like we were flying!

Mother: I'm glad you enjoyed it, sweetie! It was quite a rush, wasn't it?

Child: Yeah! The most exciting part was when we went upside-down in that loop. I felt like I was doing somersaults!

Mother: It was thrilling to watch you laugh and scream with excitement. Did any part scare you?

Child: Maybe just a little at the beginning, when we were climbing up that super steep hill. But once we started going down, it was all amazing!

Mother: You were so brave holding on tight like that. Would you want to go on it again someday?

Child: Definitely! Can we go again right now?

Mother: Maybe not right now, but we'll definitely come back another day for more roller coaster fun.

3 Which part of the roller coaster ride did the child find the most thrilling?

- A Climbing the steep hill
- B Descending from the top
- C Going upside-down in the loop

Part 3

Questions 19 to 26 are based on the following passage.

Read the passage carefully and choose the best answer A, B, C or D.

For each question, mark your answer on the answer sheet.

Cynthia Kelly, a successful model and singer-songwriter, now has a new mission. I arrived for my interview with Cynthia Kelly and I was asked to wait in the garden. I hardly had the time to start looking around at the carefully tended flowerbeds when Cynthia suddenly appeared. In every sense of fashion, she was looking great as she made her way towards me through the magnificent flowerbeds.

“Let's talk in my office”, she said, leading the way not back to the house, but instead to an ancient caravan parked up next to it. As we climbed inside the compact little van, the smell of fresh baking greeted us. A tiny table was piled high with cupcakes, each iced in a different colour: Cynthia had been busy, and there was a real sense of playing tea parties in the secret den! But what else should I have expected from a woman with such a varied and interesting career?

Cynthia was originally trained as a make-up artist, having left her home in the country at nineteen to try and make her name as a model in London, and soon worked in adverts and the fashion business. “I went to Japan to work for a short period, but felt very homesick at first,” she recalled. “It was a very demanding work and, though I met loads of nice people, it was too much to take in at nineteen. If I'd stayed longer, I might have settled in better”.

Alongside modelling, Cynthia also began to make contacts in the music business. “I'd been the typical kid, singing with a hairbrush in front of the mirror, dreaming of being a star” she laughed. She joined a girl band which 'broke up before they got anywhere', before becoming the lead singer for the band ‘Spectacular’, which featured on a best-selling pop album. Unusually though, Cynthia also sang with two other bands, one based in Sweden and another in London, and each of these had a noticeable style.

It was her work with Spectacular that originally led to Cynthia's link with Sweden. She was offered a song-writing job there with a team that was responsible for songs for some major stars, but gradually became more involved in writing music for her own band.

Although she now divided her time between London and Sweden, her first stay there turned out to be much longer than she had bargained for. “The rooms are very tall over there and so people have these rather high beds that you climb up to”, she explained. “I fell as I climbed up the ladder and cracked three ribs. Although the people at the hospital were very kind, I was stuck there for a while, which was very frustrating. Sneezing and laughing were so painful at first, let alone singing!”

It was while recovering from her injuries that Cynthia hit upon the idea of staging what she called as ‘vintage fairs’. “It was snowing in Sweden and I wanted something nice to look forward to”. Cynthia had always loved vintage clothes, particularly from the 1950s, and decided to stage an event for others who shared her passion. The first fair was held in her home village and featured stalls selling all sorts of clothes and crafts dating back to the 1950s.

It was a huge hit, with 300 people turning up. “When I had the idea of the first fair, it was only meant to be a one-off, but we had so many compliments, I decided to go ahead with more”, said Cynthia. “There’s something for people of all ages and people find old things have more characters than stuff you buy in modern shops. It also fits perfectly with the idea of recycling”. Looking around Cynthia’s caravan, I could truly see what she meant.

19. In the first paragraph, the writer suggested that Cynthia

- A. usually kept people waiting.
- B. lived up to her stylish reputation.
- C. had a hard time for the interview.
- D. was surprisingly interested in flowers.

20. What do we know about Cynthia in the second paragraph?

- A. She had prepared something for her guest.
- B. She attached her office to her house.
- C. She invited few people to the place.
- D. She liked to host tea parties.

21. Why did Cynthia leave her home at nineteen?
- A. To explore chances in Japan.
  - B. To pursue a career as a make-up artist.
  - C. To meet different types of people abroad.
  - D. To establish herself as a model in London.
22. What did Cynthia say about her trip to Japan?
- A. She finally got used to her life there.
  - B. She felt lonely most of the time there.
  - C. She wished she had done the work better.
  - D. She was not old enough to fully appreciate it.
23. What did Cynthia mean when she said “...I might have settled in better”?
- A. She would have made herself comfortable.
  - B. She would have advanced her career further.
  - C. She would have learned the language better.
  - D. She would have made more friends.
24. In the fourth paragraph, we find out that Cynthia
- A. gave up modelling to become a singer.
  - B. had always had an ambition to be a singer.
  - C. sang in three bands that had a very similar way.
  - D. has now left the first successful band she joined.

25. Why was Cynthia warded in Sweden?

- A. She broke her rib while moving her bed.
- B. She hurt her legs in a fall from her bed.
- C. She fell from a ladder in her bedroom.
- D. She tripped over in her room at night.

26. What could be said about Cynthia's 'vintage fairs'?

- A. They were mostly popular with older people.
- B. Certain shops started showing interest in the idea.
- C. She continued them after receiving positive feedbacks.
- D. Her objective was to raise awareness of the environment.

Part 4

Questions 27 to 32 are based on an article about how culture changes one's mind. Six sentences have been removed from the story. Choose from the sentences A to H the one which fits each gap (27 to 32). There are two extra sentences which you do not need to use. Mark your answer on the answer sheet.

How Culture Changes One's Mind

Culture is a powerful force that shapes how we think, feel, and act. It includes our traditions, customs, values, and beliefs. When we experience different cultures, it can change our minds in many interesting ways.

Imagine you travel to a foreign country for the first time. Everything might seem different: the food, the language, the way people greet each other. 27  This experience can open your mind and make you see the world from a new perspective.

One way culture changes our minds is by teaching us new ways to solve problems. For instance, in some cultures, people work together collaboratively and make decisions as a group. 28  Experiencing both approaches can help you become more flexible and creative in solving problems.

Food is another great example of how culture can change our minds. Trying new foods can be exciting and can change our tastes and preferences. You might discover you love sushi from Japan or tacos from Mexico. 29  It encourages curiosity and a willingness to embrace diverse experiences, ultimately leading to personal growth.

Learning a new language is also a way culture can change the way you see things. When you learn to speak another language, you don't just learn new words; you learn about a new way of thinking. 30  It will make you become more empathetic and better at understanding others.

Celebrations and holidays are another aspect of culture that can influence us. 31  For example, celebrating Diwali in India, with its beautiful lights and colours, can teach you about the importance of light over darkness and good over evil. These experiences can make you appreciate the richness and diversity of human life.

Meeting people from different cultures can widen your point of view by challenging stereotypes and prejudices. 32  You will learn to be more compassionate and understanding.

In conclusion, culture has a profound impact on our minds. It broadens our horizons, teaches us new ways of thinking, and helps us become more adaptable and open-minded. You might be surprised at how much it changes you.

- A This not only expands your preference but also makes you more open to trying new things in other areas of life.
- B These may lead to one feeling overpowered and cause anxiety.
- C Some languages have words that don't exist in your native language, expressing unique concepts and ideas.
- D At first, it can be overwhelming, but as you spend more time there, you start to understand and appreciate these differences.
- E Participating in different cultural festivals can be a lot of fun and also educational.
- F When you get to know someone from a different culture, you realise we share goals, dreams, and anxieties.
- G In other cultures, individuals might make decisions on their own.
- H Hence, this causes a wide barrier of communication among them.
