Sample B1

To begin with, my favourite comic character is Spider-Man. He is a famous superhero whose real name is Peter Parker. I first knew him from films and comic books when I was younger. Besides that, I find Spider-Man interesting because he is brave, funny and has special abilities. For example, he can climb walls and use webs to save people. I also like his stories because they teach us about responsibility and courage. As for teenagers today, I think many of them still enjoy picture-based stories. Comics are fun and easy to understand because the pictures help us follow the story. For example, many teenagers enjoy reading manga and graphic novels. All in all, Spider-Man is my favourite because he is entertaining and inspiring.

Sample B2

To begin with, my favourite comic character is Spider-Man, whose real name is Peter Parker. I first discovered him through films when I was younger, and later I became interested in his comic stories. Besides that, what makes Spider-Man interesting is his unique abilities and relatable personality. Although he is a superhero, he still faces normal problems such as school, friendships and responsibilities. I especially like the life lessons in his stories because they show the importance of being responsible and helping others. As for teenagers today, personally, I believe many still enjoy picture-based stories. Comics and graphic novels are entertaining, while digital platforms make them easier to access. For example, teenagers can read manga or webcomics on their phones whenever they have free time. All in all, I think comics are still relevant because they combine interesting stories with attractive visuals.

My favourite comic character is Spider-Man because he is brave, funny and responsible. I like him because, even though he has superpowers, he still faces problems like school, friendship and family. This makes him more relatable to teenagers. I also enjoy watching him save people and protect his city.

An Enjoyable Day

- whether spending time with family is better than going out with friends?

(why/why not?)

Do you like weekends? Why?

Useful Phrases

Quality time, Fun activities
Special moments
Relaxing atmosphere
Memorable experience
Close friends, Wonderful memories
Exciting adventure
Meaningful experience
Enjoyable outing

Sample B1

To begin with, the day I enjoy most is Saturday because I do not have to go to school. I can sleep in and relax after a busy week.

Besides that, I usually watch films, play games or go shopping. Sometimes, I also finish my homework so that I can enjoy the rest of the weekend.

As for who I spend the day with, I usually spend it with my family. We may go out for lunch or simply watch a film together at home.

Personally, I believe spending time with family is better because we can have meaningful conversations and become closer. However, going out with friends is fun too. All in all, Saturday is my favourite day because I can relax and spend time with people I care about.

Sample B2

Today, I want to talk about the day I enjoy most, which is Saturday.

To begin with, Saturday is my favourite day because I can take a break from my busy school routine and enjoy some free time.

Besides that, I usually watch films, listen to music or go shopping. Sometimes, I also complete my homework early so that I can enjoy the rest of my weekend without worrying about schoolwork.

As for who I spend the day with, I usually spend quality time with my family. We often go out for a meal or simply relax at home together.

Personally, I believe spending time with family is important because it strengthens our bond. However, hanging out with friends is equally enjoyable as it helps us maintain our friendships.

All in all, Saturday allows me to unwind and recharge for the week ahead.

Definitely. I enjoy weekends because I have more time to spend quality time with my family. For example, we usually have lunch together or go shopping.

A Viral Food

Talk about a viral food you know

- what the food is
- where you saw it
- why many people want to try it
- if something popular online is always a good choice to try (why/why not?)

Do you like trying viral food? Why?

Useful Phrases

Trending food, Unique flavours
Delicious taste, Social media
Food reviews, Affordable price
Eye-catching presentation
Popular choice
Worth trying
Food craze

Sample B1

To begin with, a viral food I know is Dubai chocolate. I first saw it on TikTok when many people were making videos of themselves trying it. It became popular because it looks delicious and has an interesting filling. Besides that, people are usually curious about food that everyone is talking about. For example, some of my friends wanted to try it after watching food reviews online.

However, I do not think that everything popular online is always a good choice to try. Some foods may become viral because they look attractive, but they may not taste as good as expected.

Personally, I think we should check reviews and consider the price before buying viral food. All in all, trying trending food can be fun, but we should make sensible choices.

Sample B2

To begin with, a viral food I know is Dubai chocolate, which I first discovered on TikTok. I noticed that many food reviewers were posting videos of themselves trying it and giving their opinions. I think many people want to try it because it looks tempting and unique, especially because of its unusual filling.

Moreover, people naturally become curious when something is constantly appearing on their social media feeds. For instance, my friends became interested in trying it after watching several positive reviews.

However, I do not believe that everything popular online is necessarily a good choice. Some products may be promoted mainly because they are trendy, rather than because they are genuinely good. Therefore, I would check reviews, ingredients and prices before trying them.

All in all, online trends can introduce us to exciting foods, but we should not follow them blindly.

Yes, I enjoy trying viral food because I am curious about its unique flavours and creative presentation. However, I usually check online reviews first to make sure it is worth the hype.
